We will not accept certified copies from any other profession without prior approval.

Identification verification

Upon instructing this firm you are authorising us to carry out our client due diligence procedure. Part of this procedure involves using a third party identity verification company to check the information you have provided us with against a number of institutions records including, passport checking, DVLA, sanctions records, politically exposed persons records, mortality, insolvency lists and credit reference data. Please note checking against credit reference data will result in an electronic ID check footprint being left on the search subject's credit reference file. However, this footprint does not adversely affect a credit reference file and is not used by lenders to inform credit decisions.

If you pass funds to Dunn & Baker as part of a matter transaction, we are required to ascertain the source of those funds. It is this firm's policy to ask each client, where applicable, to provide a brief explanation and some supporting documentation of the identity of their source of funds. If any part of the funds have been provided by a third party then, where applicable, we will need to ask the third party to provide us with a brief explanation and some supporting documentation to support the identity of their source of funds. If at any point in the transaction the origin of the funds change, we will also require a brief explanation and supporting documentation of the identity of that source of funds.

Examples of such documentation include:

The team member entrusted with your matter will speak with you about the documentation you will be required to provide.
